Improving Liberty State Park

Group Picnic Pavilion Area

Picnicking at Liberty State Park

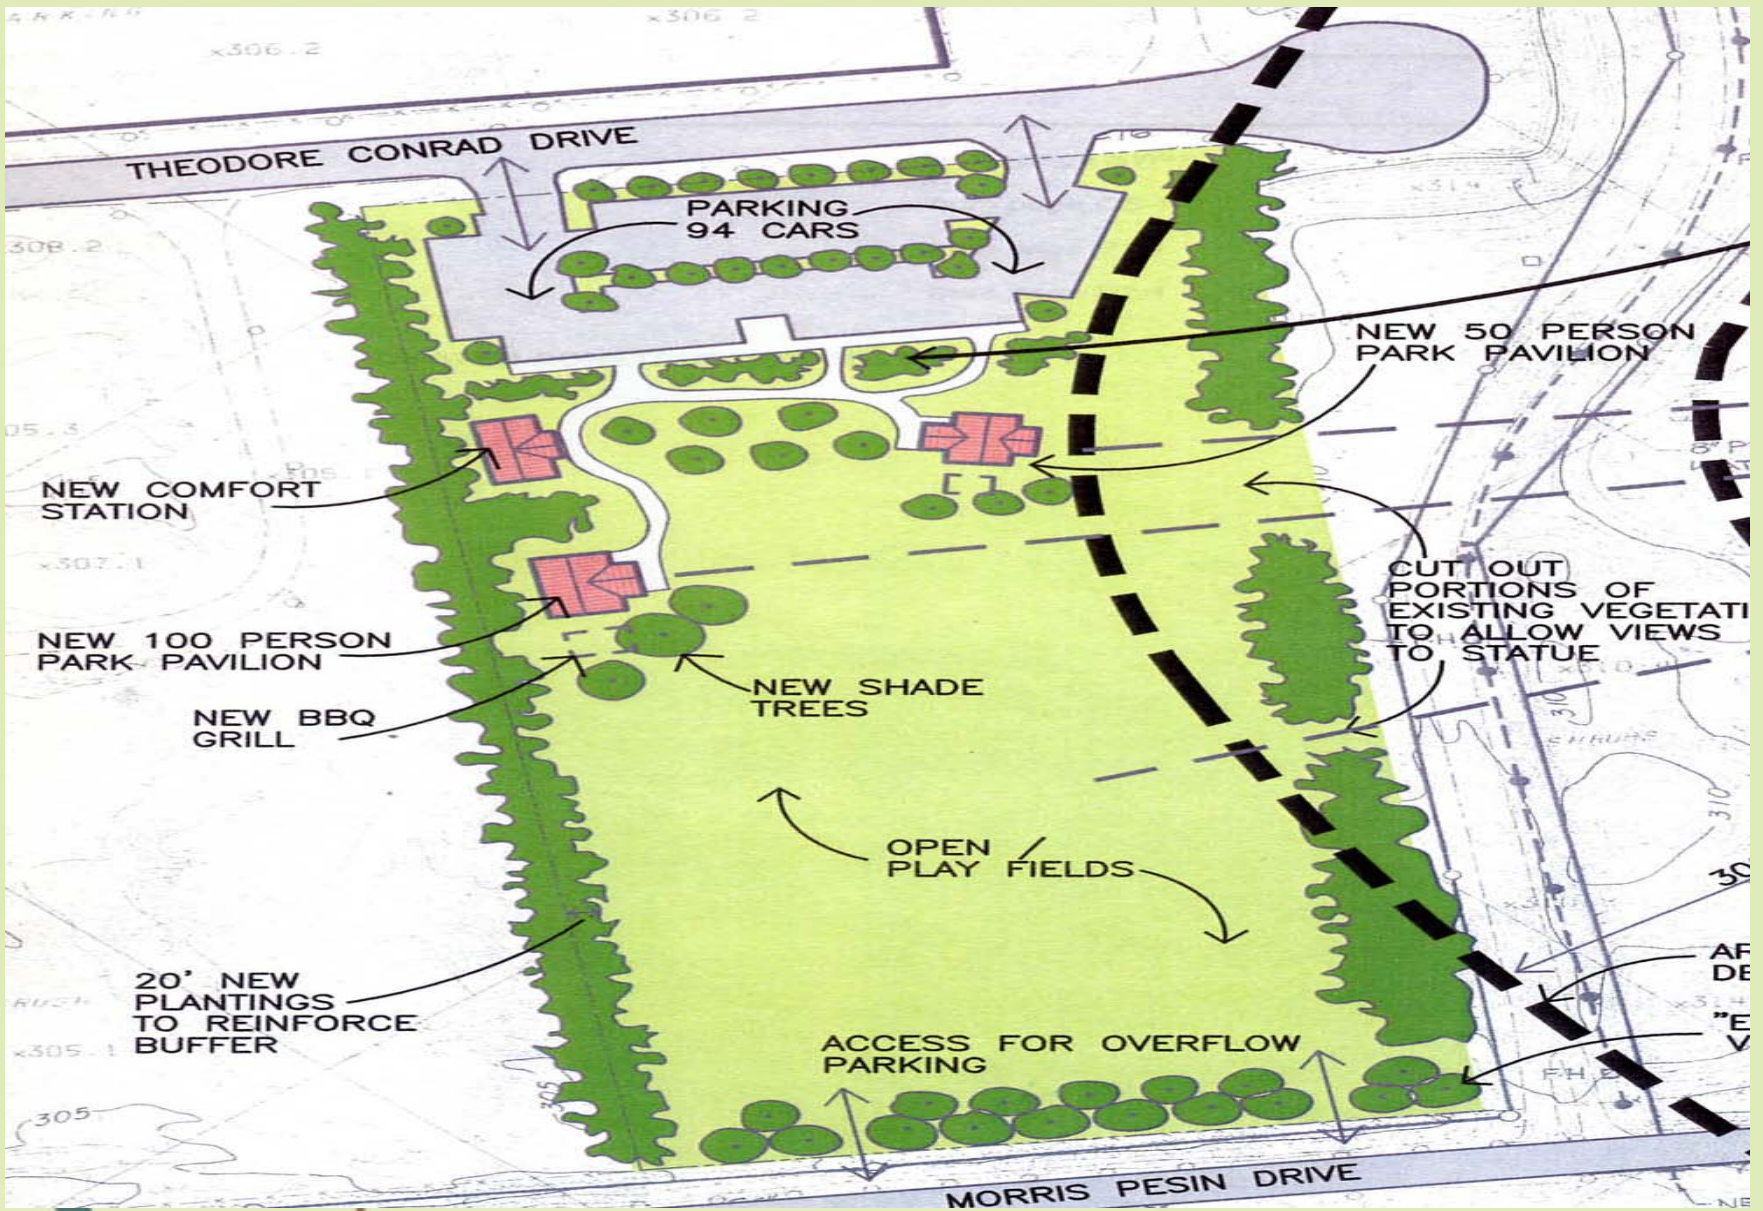

- Picnicking is very popular at the Park.
- On weekends, urban park users pack every available shaded inch of the park.
- The park's most requested use is group picnicking and there is not enough group areas to meet the park user demand.

This is an example of a sheltered picnic pavilion

Making this become a reality

- The State of New Jersey has already invested $200,000 for site improvements.
- The project cost is now $2.2 million plus.
- Additional State funds are dedicated for engineering plans, infrastructure, parking area, and bathroom.
- The Friends of Liberty State Park is now actively seeking funds for the small and large picnic pavilions in order to make this important project a reality for urban families.

We are asking for your generous support for this important project.

We thank you.
